

14 FEB 269 AD

ST. VALENTINE MARTYRED.

note: There was more than one
St. Valentine.

269

Postumus was murdered
Maximian succeeded as emperor of the Gallic empire.

Maximian was killed
Constantine succeeds.

269

Laelianus was emperor in the Gallic Empire.

Also Marcus

269

Scythians

Triumph of CLAUDIUS II GOTTHICUS over the Goths near Naissus - Nish

269, Feb 14

A priest named Valentini was martyred

269 AD Feb. 14

St. Valentine was martyred.

269

Gothic war. Victory of Claudius at Naissus.

269 AD

Goths defeated at Naissus

Autumn 269

The death of MARCUS (Gallie Empire) was followed by 2 day interregnum & then passed to VICTORINUS, an able military man who had risen to high office under Postumus and had come perhaps to be regarded as his natural successor.

Spain refused to recognize VICTORINUS and an expeditionary force sent by CLAUDIUS II seized control of Gallie territory.

cost of the Rhine. This encouraged the AEDU of Central band to rise in revolt against Victorinus

269

Postumus was murdered
during the revolt of LAELIANUS

Claudius II sent an expeditionary force to recover southern Gaul east of the Rhone from the Sallic emperor VICTORINUS. At about same time ~~the~~ Spain threw off the Gallic allegiance and returned to Rome.

269

Zenobia, widow of ODAENATHUS, had broken with Claudius II in 269, advancing her power as far as Ankara in the west

269-270

Zenobia invaded Egypt